By Mike Connolly

(Columnist Mike Connolly died Friday while undergoing medical treatment at Rochester, Minn. This column was prepared before his death.)

Dear Mike: In this morning's Post Gazette, you said George Hamilton was dating Nancy Sinatra and that George and Lynda have called it off. I hope George and Lynda get together soon and marry. Who is against this romance? I hope not the President and his wife. — A Steady Reader, Pittsburgh, Penn.

Dear Steady Reader: Haven't you heard? George got his draft notice for a re-evaluation of his exemptions. Didn't you read our item about George's saying he wouldn't be able to fly from his European movie location to see Lynda at her McCall's job in New York? Not even on a weekend? We don't mean to crow but our George and Nancy scoop preceded this whole bloomin' revelation.

Dear Sir: One thing is that fluffy blonde hair of Carol Channing's a wig? I've been in more arguments regarding it and I would like to clear it up once and for all. C.D., Pawtucket, R.I.

Dear C.D.: Don't know which side you're on, but once and for all: that fluffy blonde hair of Carol's is a wig. It's a wig for a very professional reason. Because Carol is probably the hardest worker on any stage that you'll ever see, perspiring would kill the hairdo of her natural mop by the end of the first act.

Dear Mike: I want to know about the best actress in the business, Miss Senta Berger. Is she married? Is she Scandinavian? I think I saw her with Charlton Heston in the Columbia movie, "Major Dundee," but Columbia says they have no record of her. Is she a myth or reality? — C.S.K., Dorchester, Mass.

Dear C.S.K.: Indeed, Senta is very real. She's married (sorry about that) and Viennese. And let's give Columbia a couple raps on the knuckles. Senta also appeared in "The Victors," "Cast a Giant Shadow," and "Return from the Ashes." Try writing to United Artists in Hollywood for a biography. They might keep better records.

Dear Mike: Did Chuck Connors' present wife play his leading lady in the movie "Geronimo," and who is she? — B.F., Nashua, N.H.

Dear Eagle Eye: Right. In fact, it was in this movie Chuck met his present wife, Kamala Devi, whom he married in April, 1963.

Mr. Connolly: Is Burt Brinkerhoff any relation to Anthony Perkins? He acts, talks and looks just like him. Thank you. R.L., Newton Centre, Mass.

Dear R.L.: They are no relation to each other. If what you say is true, we'll go on record as saying Burt is a lazy actor if he has to copy the style of another actor. Burt probably felt he was safe because Tony has been making most of his movies in Europe. But he'll have to change his style now that Tony opens on Broadway with Connie Stevens in "Star Spangled Girl."

Dear Sir: Here is my question. Has sports announcer Mel Allen ever been married to TV star Dagmar? Here at the prison, the opinion varies on this question and I would appreciate an answer to this four-month-old question. — F.W., Norfolk, Mass.

Dear F.W.: Dagmar, whose real name is Virginia Ruth Egnor, divorced Danny Dayton in 1962 and married Dick Hines in September of the same year. Are we talking about the same Dagmar?

Dear Mike: I, and all my friends, are getting awfully bored with the sweet Doris Day. How much longer can she go on this way? — Signed, Up to Here, Hinsdale, Ill.

Dear Doris Day Fan: After Doris' movie "Caprice," her version of the spy spoof, you may be getting your wish if you'd like to see her in a Western! She returns to Universal to do "The Epic of Josie," her first outer since "Calamity Jane" thirteen years ago. The movie takes place in Wyoming in the 1890's. Now are you happy?

PAINT WINDOWS . . . Eddie Wolf (left), 8, and Ricky Ruis, 9, work over the window of Stoner's Men's Store at Hawthorne Boulevard and Pacific Coast Highway as part of a Recreation Department project. The project, developed in cooperation with area businessmen, resulted in Halloween themes on store windows throughout Torrance.
